

Education Support Service

Down Syndrome Victoria is committed to ensuring that schools supporting students with diverse needs and learning styles have access to strategies, resources and support.

What is the Education Support Service?

The Down Syndrome Victoria (DSV) Education Support Service is the only visiting teacher service available for students with an intellectual disability in Victoria.

Why engage the Education Support Service?

The service promotes an inclusive educational environment facilitating a better quality education for all children, and is instrumental in changing discriminatory attitudes.

The Education Support Service provides practical support and specialist information to assist your school to deliver appropriate pedagogy and curriculum to students with Down syndrome particularly during periods of transition and change. The Education Support Service will contribute to the strengthening of partnerships between the parents of children with Down syndrome and their school community.

The Department of Education (DE) funds a limited number of ESS places for students transitioning within mainstream government schools and are subscribers to DSV. DSV can provide a limited number of additional ESS places once these places are filled and for all other students for an annual fee of $2,600.

What supports will you receive?

Up to three school visits or online consultations (nine hours) and ongoing phone/email support provided throughout the year. The DSV consultant will collaborate with you to meet the specific needs of your school and student.

The ESS can provide:

- Classroom support
- Sourcing of specialist resources
- Positive Behaviour Support
- Curriculum adjustment
- Professional development
- Assistance at SSG/PSG meetings

We are excited to share that from 2025 registration will provide access to the new DSV Education Platform, which includes resources, training modules, a Community of Practice and more.

Positions are limited and will be filled in order of receipt of registration. Please complete and return the following form as soon as possible.
